"...The Home of the BRAVE"

To be a Brave to some people is fighting,
  Winning, dying,
Facing fears, fighting them.
"For other people," someone says.
  Forgetting. If only he knew!

To be a Brave is voicing views unknown,
Thinking yourself the only such thinker.
Seeking. Finding. Telling other people these.
  And finding others.

To be a Brave is a boy struggling to the finish
The spirit bending the physical to its will.
  Going on.

To be a Brave is going against the grain,
Against the crowd,
  Completely.
For what is right in your mind,
  Always.

The quiet atmosphere of the library encourages study as shown here by Janet, Linda, Vicki, Brenda, and Ramona who are receiving help from Miss Bowman, their English teacher.

The students in Mrs. Woods' third period typing class take a break for lunch.

The bookmobile, provided by the Johnson County Library, comes to the school every three weeks and is available to all students.

Busy Days Include Lunch Activities.

The thirty minutes each student has for lunch are used in many ways. After eating lunch, the students can meet their friends in the gym where a Coke machine and recreation facilities are available. A ping-pong tournament was held during the lunch hour the first semester. The champion was Jim Wolfe. Students can also be signed out in the office to go to the library during this period.

Watching Robert play ping-pong enlivens David's lunch hour while Larry and Jerry discuss his backhand.

Good conversation helps to make lunchtime more enjoyable.

Mr. and Mrs. Hibbs arrive at a banquet held at the school in Mr. Hibbs' honor upon his retirement. Mrs. Hibbs was a great help and inspiration to her husband during his many years of service in the teaching field.

A Friend Is Gone

On July 10, 1968, a tragic farm accident caused the death of Harold D. Hibbs, the first superintendant of the Nineveh-Hensley-Jackson United School Corporation. His death brought great sorrow in the community and his many friends.

Mr. Hibbs was born December 13,1901, in Johnson County, the son of George and Martha Hibbs. He graduated from Nineveh High School in 1920, and received his Bachelor's Degree in 1928 at Franklin College. In 1931, he earned his Master's Degree from Indiana University. He was married to Ruby Graves.

Mr. Hibbs was the principal of Nineveh school from 1928 until 1963, when he was selected the first superintendent of our school corporation. He helped in planning the new high school and set up the organizational structure of our corporation.

Harold Hibbs was a friend to all who sat in his classes, to those who sought his counsel and advice, and to those who worked with him. His contributions were many and the results of his work will benefit us for years to come.

ACADEMICS

New Courses Add Variety to School

Mrs. Sichting shows Marilyn Smith and Richard Davis an interesting story about the Bible.

Mr. Kuehn referees a heated debate concerning President Nixon's stand on a foreign policy in World Affairs.

Three courses were added to the curriculum this year. Bible Literature studies the Bible for it's literature content and also includes the study of different religious denominations. Different ministers have been guests of the class during the year to answer the student's questions.

World Affairs is directed by the students rather than text book oriented. The class is concerned with current events, news media, and class discussions on controversial issues such as capitol punishment and Viet Nam.

"La class de espanal," the Spanish class, began it's first year with the students learning to speak correctly and to understand Spanish as the main goals, based on the idea that one learns his native language this way.

Miss Bowman shows Eddie Lancaster a Spanish bullfight poster.

These students are carving soap and sculpturing plaster as part of their work in art class.

Art Classes Are Busy Designing Projects

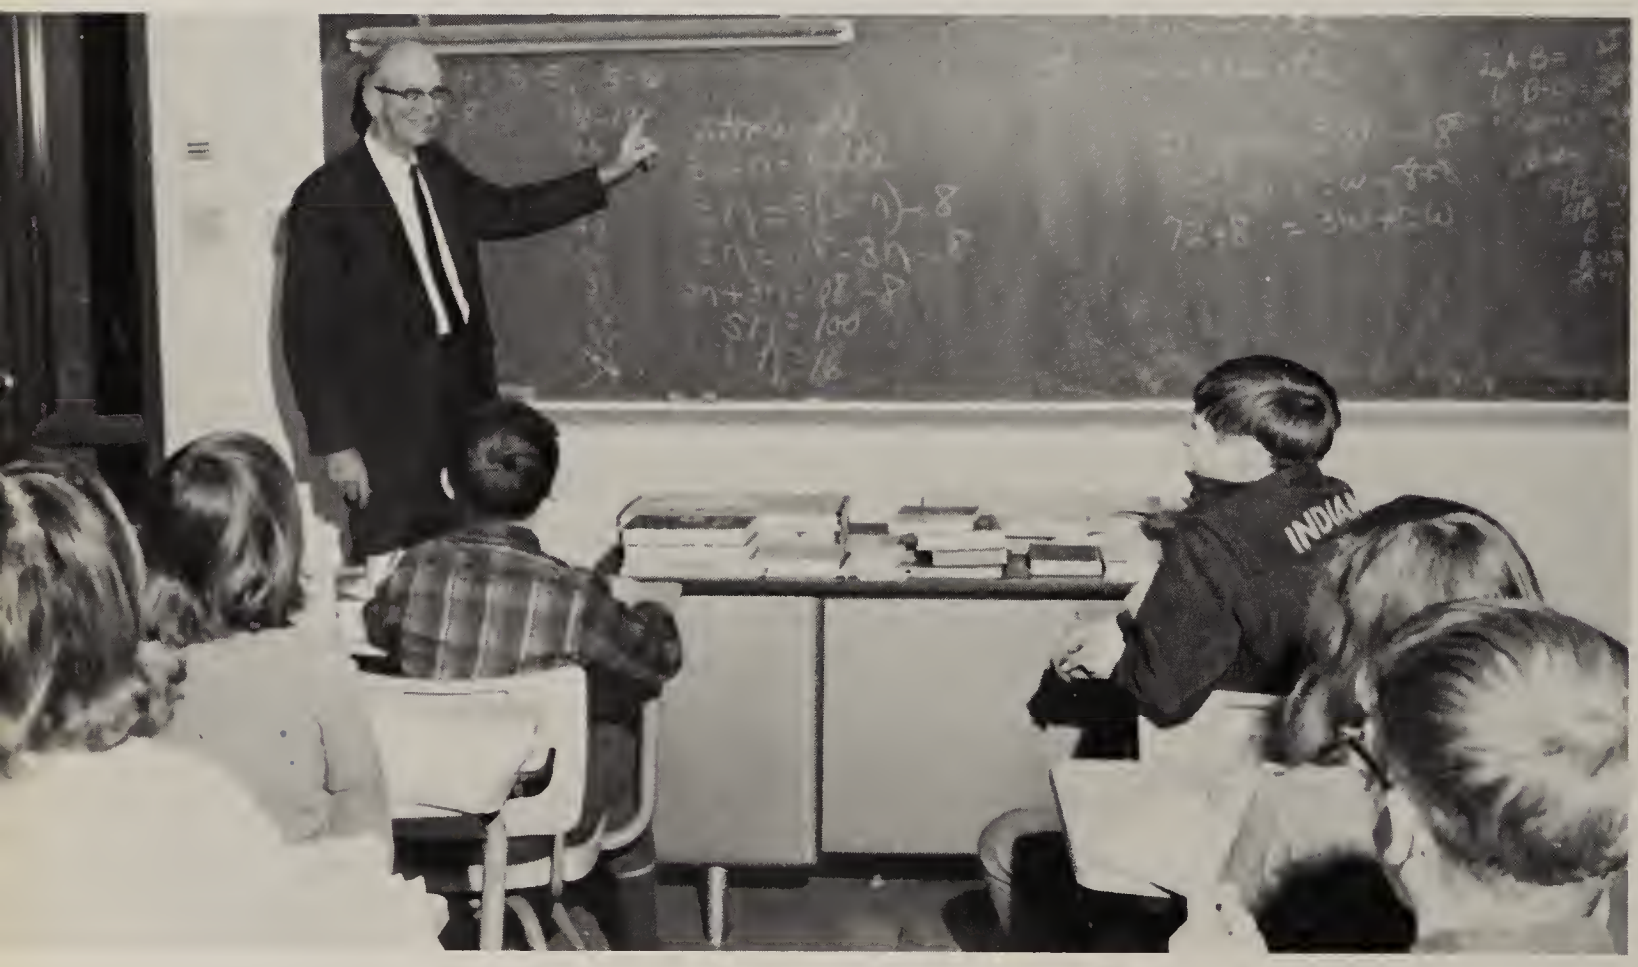
Students admire the art work designed for open house.

Arts and Crafts students enjoyed developing their skills and learning about new ideas this year. One area of art included sketching with pencil and charcoal. Students also worked with perception and various types of lettering. Small individual groups of students made stained glass windows from colored tissue paper and other decorations for their homes. Soap carving, sculpturing wall plaques, and abstract figures were crafts that everyone enjoyed.

Math Classes Are Important to Our Students

Math classes are taught in various areas according to the fields of interest. Business Math deals with mathematics of everyday living. Geometry teaches both practical and college preparatory work. Trigonometry and Solid Geometry are mostly college preparatory. The Trig class mathematically constructed a triangle and to further test their mathematical skills developed it again on the school grounds with use of a surveying instrument to see if their calculations were correct.

Mr. Nation explains a difficult problem to Jim Handley.



Mr. McNeely explains how to solve an equation to his Algebra I students.

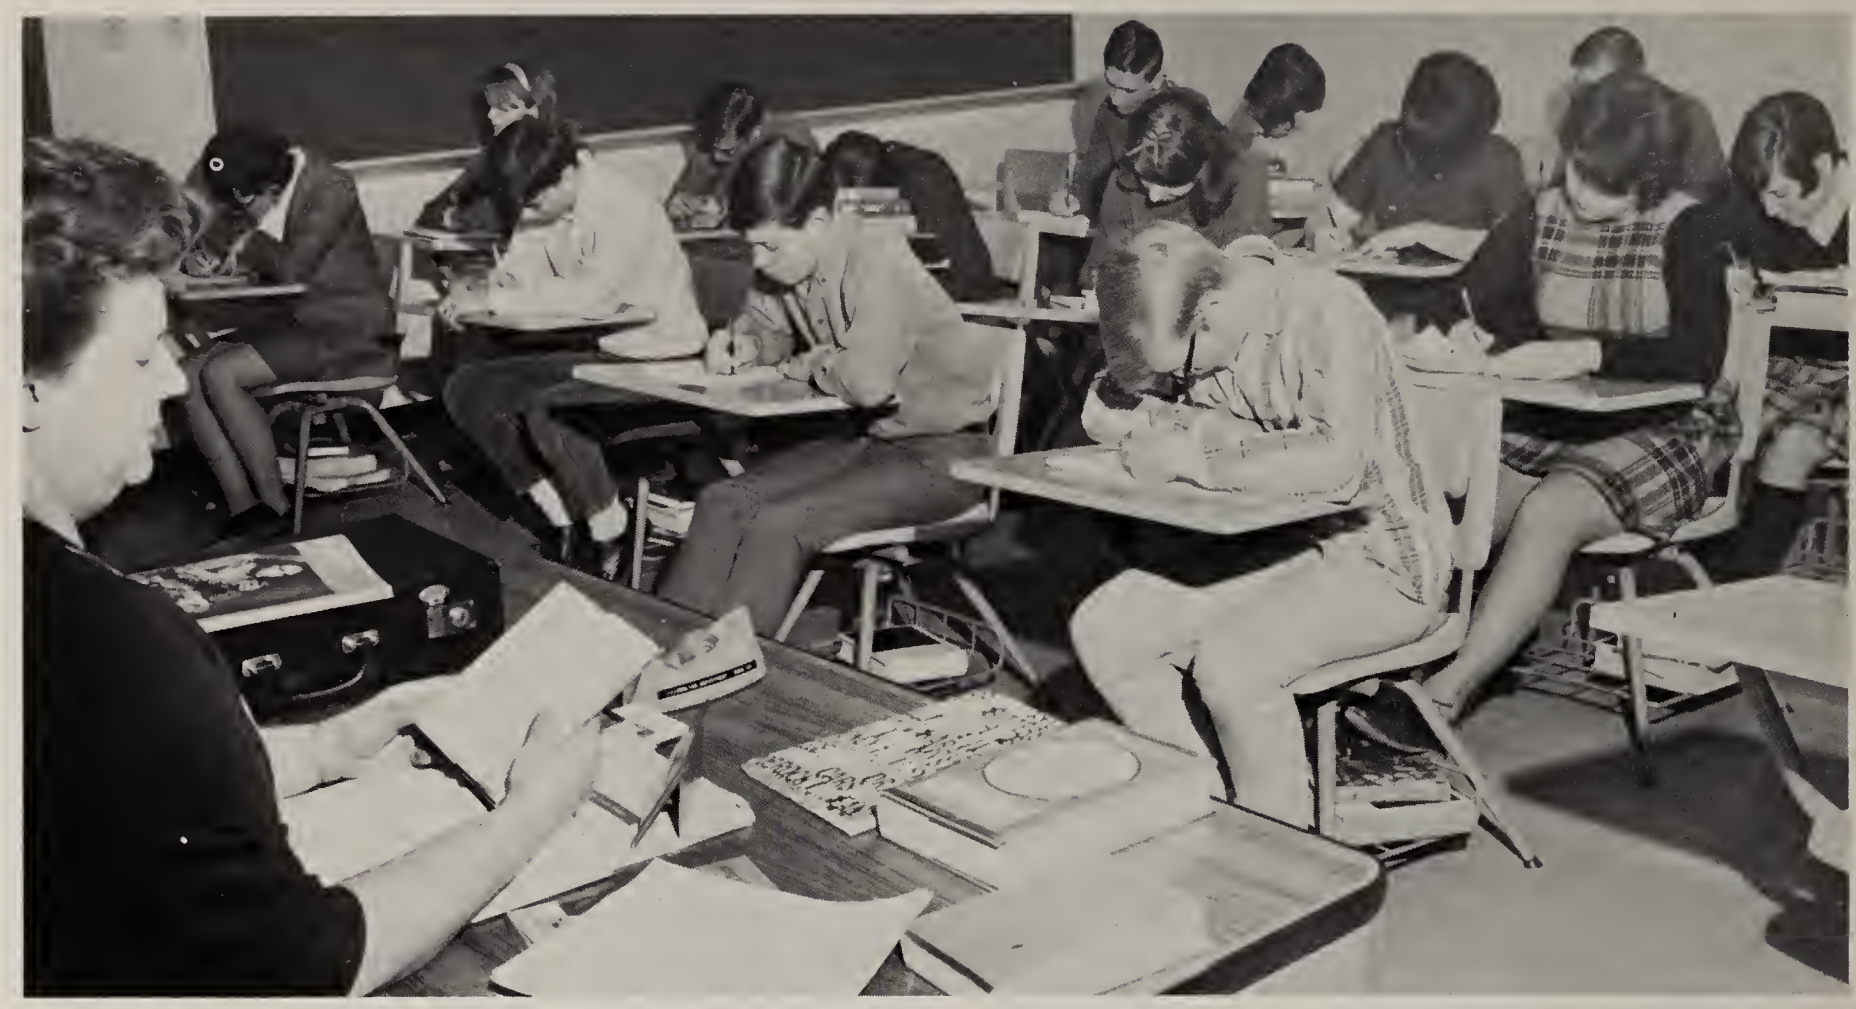
Science Geared to Career Fields

Mike Wilson and Tom Lanham are busy with an experiment in advanced biology.

Biology students completed projects and conducted experiments on various subjects. One project that every student was required to do was dissecting twelve different organisms. Insect collecting, the typing of blood, and using the microscopes to study tiny micro-organisms were other activities done in class. Advanced biology, which is a more detailed and higher level of general biology was added to the selection of science courses for students completing Biology I.

Physic's classes worked in such areas as ionization, electrochemistry, atomic and molecular structures, and chemical kenetics. But the highlight of the year was a field trip which the class took to Butler University to see the Observatory.

Joe, Gary, Chris, and Brian have a good time in the Physics laboratory.



Miss Settle's junior English class works hard to achieve perfection. They are given a certain amount of study time in which they are to prepare their work and ask any questions. They study sentence structure and are given weekly spelling words. Spelling words are given to build their vocabulary and to help lead to better understanding and better thinking.

Mrs. Kuehn is discussing a Shakespearean play with her English Literature class. The class is assigned stories to read silently and then they discuss them aloud. The discussions give the students a better insight into the British culture.

Social Studies Key to Understanding

Mr. Kuehn's U.S. History class seems to know the place Gary is pointing out on the map.

U. S. History is a course in which the students acquaint themselves with the history of the United States from its discovery to the present. The students discuss the wars encountered by the U.S., they debate current issues, and learn about the presidents. The students are introduced to the political parties that we have and talk about their differences.

Government classes give students insight in governmental procedures. The students visited the House of Representatives and the Senate in session. One class set up an example of the House of Representatives, presenting and passing bills. An all school mock election was held to get practical experience in national election procedures. Classes study the constitution, the election process, and the party system. They also study some of the different forms of government.

Mr. Cummings finds that showing films is a favorable way of illustrating subjects to his government classes. This is a good way of conveying the actual occurrences and giving a more thorough explanation of it. The students seem to understand and enjoy this change of pace from the regular class hour.

Mr. Goodlive is helping Russell with his gun rack.

Mrs. Yarnell supervises Carla and Cindy with their sewing while board.

I. Lab girls work hard at their jobs in class which in turn will lead to future careers.

Sandy and Peggy use the ironing

Vocational Courses Give Good Training

Vocational courses are offered to give students a practical experience in various areas.

Industrial Arts helps the boys learn how to operate the different farm equipment and all the latest machinery.

The second year shop class spends most of its time working with wood constructions. They use the newest machines available to us.

Intensive lab is a course which gives the students experience in businesses such as banking, insurance, personnel, real estate, law, tax, medical, and others. After spending two weeks in each "station", the girls, after graduation, can secure employment without additional training.

In Home Economics the girls are instructed in more than just cooking and sewing. In addition to these other areas are included such as home and money management, home furnishings, home nursing, and child care.

In agriculture watching Gary rebuild the differential in a tractor are Gary, Stan, and Ernie.

Special Classes for Sophomores

The girl's physical education classes have participated in a wide variety of activities this year; included are: soccer, volley ball, tumbling, modern dance, and track, which acquainted the girls with both individual and team sports. With this experience, it is hoped that the girls will also become better spectators of the activities as they attend them or watch televised sports programs.

Driver's education, required of all sophomores, introduces students to the world of driving. Sophomores, who are fifteen may enroll, and obtain a driver's ed permit which allows them to drive only in a properly equipped driver's ed car and with an instructor. It is a proven fact that driver's taking the course have a much lower rate of accidents. Driver's education's main goals are to reduce traffic fatalities and instill safety conscious habits in drivers today.

Basketball is just one of the many sports in which physical education classes participate.

Mr. Welch points out the new location of the door lock to his drivers, Eric, Pam and Joe.

ACTIVITIES

Pat Certolic

Decorative campaign posters and the campaigning candidates (left to right) Carla Skinner, Beth Ann Collett, Linda Naile, Patty Certolic, and Ruthann Ray appear throughout the school.

Sheriff Mike Woodard's job is to keep the voters in line and to prevent electioneering inside the polling place. The voters are Mike Ray, Gaylord Taylor, Ted Sichting, and Melissa Zook.

Class Elections Are Exciting

Poll book clerk Brenda Hamilton registers two junior voters Emma Mann and Toni LaFary before they receive their ballot to vote.

Each year the junior and senior classes look forward to the election of their class officers.

As the election drew near, the juniors and seniors petitioned and then campaigned for their favorite candidates.

Voting booths for the voters were set up in the cafetorium.

The senior government classes took charge of the polling place and kept things in order by taking positions as inspectors, sheriffs, ballot clerks, poll book clerks, and judges.

As each voter entered the polling place they registered their name with the poll book clerk after which a ballot was handed to them by a ballot clerk. Upon receiving their ballot they were ushered into an empty voting booth to cast their vote. Sheriffs were on hand to keep the voting lines running smoothly. Inspectors supervised the polling place to insure a fair election.

After the voting came the seemingly long wait to find out the winners of the election.

Sherry Stevenson, Jim Hague, and Jim Moore wait their turn to vote while Bill Willis leaves the voting booth.

Mike, DeWayne, and Steve seem more interested in skating than Debbie, Sherry, and Brenda who would rather talk as they skate.

Skating Provides Fun and Spills

The skating parties were a great help to the junior class this year in making money for the long awaited prom. Many people, young and old alike, came and skated until their feet hurt, but they enjoyed it none the less. The skater's parade, the conga, and couples only, all helped to keep the skaters happy.

Refreshments were sold at each party to help the skaters keep up their energy.

Many spills among the younger generation sometimes caused a skinned knee, but always caused a laugh.

Jimmy takes a spill as Gary and J.W. watch.

Some pretty weird costumes were displayed by the dancers attending this year's Halloween dance.

Halloween Dance Brings Wild Costumes

The Halloween Dance brought forth many cute and weird costumes. Such things as farmers, animals, boys dressed as girls, and girls dressed as boys were seen throughout the evening. Rita Land and Greg Voris received the prize for the best dressed boy and girl.

Grama's Boys provided a swingin' beat for those attending to dance too. Among songs which brought everyone to their feet was "Simon Says". Refreshments were served throughout the dance.

Even the sponsors seemed to enjoy themselves as they watched the different creatures who danced by them. By the end of the evening everyone was tired, but happy.

Kenny and Connie were among the costumed dancers.

Open House Shows Parents School Life

Chris Sizemore, Bernice Wilder, Chris Catt, and Martha Miller admire the school's mascot.

What is a better way to acquaint parents with everyday school life than to have them attend the same classes that their children do?

Each parent was given the same schedule that their sons and daughters follow in going to their classes.

In each class the teacher explained to the parents what the class was concerned with and what the students were studying at the present time. Throughout the Open House most of the parents were bothered with the problem of finding the right room. Student guides stationed around the building alleviated the problem by seeing that the parents got to the right classroom on time.

Decorations made by the Arts and Crafts class showed the parents that the students have a great deal of school spirit.

After the classes had been visited, the parents retired to the cafetorium for refreshments.

A fine group of parents attended this year's Open House.

Mr. Kuehn explains to some parents what the students are studying in World Affairs.

Chris and Gary help direct a lost parent.

Chris Federle gets a response from an eager General Science student as he taught some of Mr. Heckman's classes.

Turnabout Day Is Educational

Turnabout Day turned out to be a very exciting day for many students at Indian Creek. Members of the Future Teachers of America took the place of the teachers for the day.

The student teachers really took their jobs seriously and had some interesting questions and assignments for their classes. They had free periods in which they could go to their own lounge and enjoy refreshments from home while they prepared the lesson for the next class.

Tom Voyles, Student Council president, and Jim Moore, vice-president, took over the jobs of Mr. Ray and Mr. Adkins for the day.

The day was quite an experience for those planning on teaching and gave them an opportunity to experience some of the aspects of teaching.

Bev Hogue assists Mr. Cummings in Drivers Ed.

Gary Mullendore assists Donna Holley as Carol Lasley watches.

Ruthann Ray, who taught some of Mr. Welch's classes, consults with principal, Tom Voyles.

Drama Night Combines Mystery, Comedy, and

Practice makes perfect! Mr. Sichting supervises drama class members Chris Federle, Connie Doan, Stan Thompson, and Rose Clephane as they try out different parts for Drama Night.

Much work, sweat, and memorization of lines went into the Drama Nights this year.

The Drama Club members started their Drama Night season with three one-act plays. The first play, "If Girls Asked Boys For Dates," presented a comic situation where the dating system between girls and boys was reversed so that girls had to ask boys for dates. The second play, "The Ghost Wore White," combined comedy with mystery when a family moved into a supposedly haunted house. The third one-act play called "The Storm" presented a serious drama with a surprise ending.

Later in the year the drama class presented a three-act comedy, "Her Adorable Imp." This play contained many mysterious and funny happenings.

Mary Wells, Martha Miller, Patty Certolic, and Ruthann Nutt were the student directors for this year's Drama Nights. Under the guidance of Mr. Sichting, these girls learned first hand how to direct and present a play. Charles Zupancic and the shop classes were responsible for the scenery used in the plays.

Drama in Plays

Jeff Mulkey (Dan Teeters) learns the startling truth about the mysterious woman (Joyce Prather) and the girl (Alice Graham).

Mr. Sichting demonstrates expression to some players.

Gary Satter, with the help of Rose Clephane, finds out that there appears some violence in "Her Adorable Imp."

The decorations and soft music raised the spirits of many in attendance.

Christmas Spirit Around the School

When Christmas is just around the corner everyone is filled with the anticipation of a happy holiday season. The Christmas dance and Christmas play were among some of the activities at the school. The play was put on by the Thespians, and it was done in the theme of family tradition. Sunshine sponsored the dance. Live entertainment was provided by Eros and Capricorn. A queen was crowned and refreshments were served. Everyone had on their holiday attire. A giant tree in the middle of the room provided decoration.

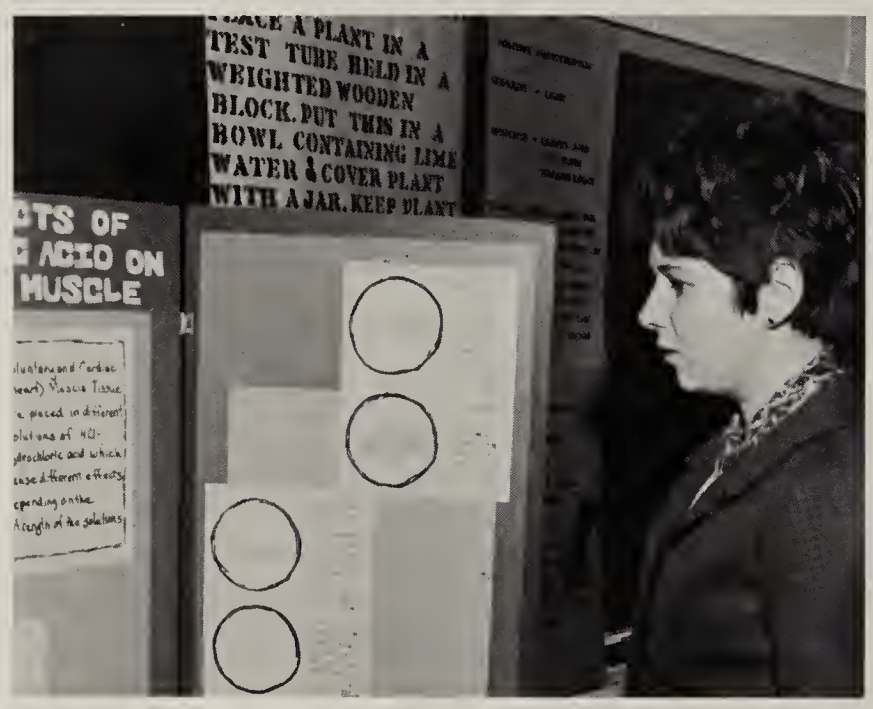
Mr. Ray seems to be enjoying his task of crowning pretty Pam Hedger, freshman, as queen at the Christmas Tree Dance.

Junior, Don Stafford, proudly shows his parents, Chris Federle and Marilyn Smith, the tree he bought for his contribution to the family's Christmas.

It's Christmas and the children and their friends fill the house with gaiety as they arrive home from college to soon rush off to parties and other holiday activities.

The Rhythmaires sing "Christmas Travelogue" as the girls model the costumes of the countries in the song. The girls also presented Mr. Ray with gifts from their respective countries.

Complex projects caught the eye of people who attend the Science Fair, especially other students.



Mrs. Whitton, who was in charge of the Science Fair, studies the project of one of her advanced biology students.

Mr. Naile looks proud as daughter Linda shows a winner.

Many proud parents were among those in attendance at the Science Fair. This father seems very interested.

Many Attend Successful Science Fair

Alice Frownfelter explains a project to her mother.

Many students and their parents attended the annual Science Fair held at the school. Mrs. Whitton was in charge of this year's Fair.

The many complex and interesting projects were divided into biological and physical divisions. Projects are required from all students enrolled in a science course.

Linda Naile was chosen by the judges as grand champion of this year's Science Fair. This award made her eligible to attend the Regional Science Fair. Other exhibits received blue, red, white, or green ribbons. All projects received a ribbon.

Outstanding projects from the junior high and elementary schools in the corporation were exhibited along with the projects of the high school students.

Other candidates watch as Marilou Catron crowns Bill Willis and Debbi Hamilton king and queen at the Sweetheart Dance.

Dance Ends Day for Sweethearts

Valentine's Day ended at Indian Creek with the Sweetheart Dance. The dance was sponsored by the Future Homemakers of America.

Bill Willis and Debbi Hamilton, seniors, were crowned king and queen for the night. Other candidates were Ken Weddle and Lucinda White, juniors; Eric Weaver and Margaret Hague, sophomores; and Rita Chapman and Don Thompson, freshmen. Those attending the dance voted for the candidates at the door when they arrived.

Music was provided by Grama's Boys and refreshments were served by FHA members.

Soft music provided a romantic atmosphere for the dancers.

Bill and Debbi pose in front of some of the decorations after being crowned king and queen.

Gary, Tom, Nick, Danny, and Chris, better known as Grama's Boys, provided the music for the Sweetheart dance.

The members of the choir were an impressive sight in their formal attire.

Joyce Prather is being congratulated by friends after receiving a $300 scholarship.

Music Department Hosts Programs

Rita Land, sophomore, can really belt a song.

Looking very demure and charming these Hippopotomuses put on quite a show for the attentive audience.

The band and chorus presented to the school two colorful and entertaining programs this year.

The chorus hosted the annual Johnson County Choral Festival in the gym. Under the direction of Mr. Neuen, the four hundred choral students sang a melody of songs. Our school was honored when Joyce Prather was awarded a scholarship for outstanding participation in the field of chorus.

The Musicale, presented by the band, was a combination of dancing, lively music and many colorful costumes plus a number of melodies done by individuals or small groups. The honor band also did a few numbers. The choir also put on a Spring Sing which was very entertaining.

Linda, Gary, and George perform on their trombones.

Senior boys who have earned eight varsity letters, three in their senior year, are presented with a blanket by the school. This year Mr. Adkins presented blankets to Danny Kean, Chris Catt, and Jim Moore.

Many Students Honored on Award Days

Many students were honored on the days set aside for award programs for seniors and underclassmen. On Senior Awards Day, Mr. Ray named Susan Kitch Valedictorian and Sandy Short Salutatorian for the class of '69. Other awards were presented by the teachers, and the seniors even had a few presentations of their own, such as the television they presented to Mr. Ray for the school and the key to the school which Senior Class President Penny Anderson presented to Rick Kean, Junior Class President.

The underclassmen were honored on their own awards day the next week. The Juniors set a tradition by holding the first transition ceremony for changing their rings to signify becoming seniors.

Senior Class President Penny Anderson presented the key to the school to Junior Class President Rick Kean.

Mr. Nation, Student Council Sponsor, presented the plaque for first place in the poster contest to Mrs. Kuehn, sponsor of the winning homeroom 111.

Dennis Rice was awarded the Most Valuable Underclassman award by Mr. Welch, track coach.

Penny Anderson, Senior Class President, presents to Mr. Ray a television set which the seniors purchased for the school.

Dewayne and Karen were among those enjoying the music at the Prom.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Kuehn, and Mr. and Mrs. Whitton seem to be enjoying the festive atmosphere of the Prom.

Those participating get ready for the crowning of the king and queen.

Sherwood Country Club Is Prom Site

Rick Kean, Melanie Childers, Donna Watson, and Tom Voyles dance to the beat of the Eros and Capricorn at the postprom.

The postprom was also held at Sherwood with music provided by the Eros and Capricorn.

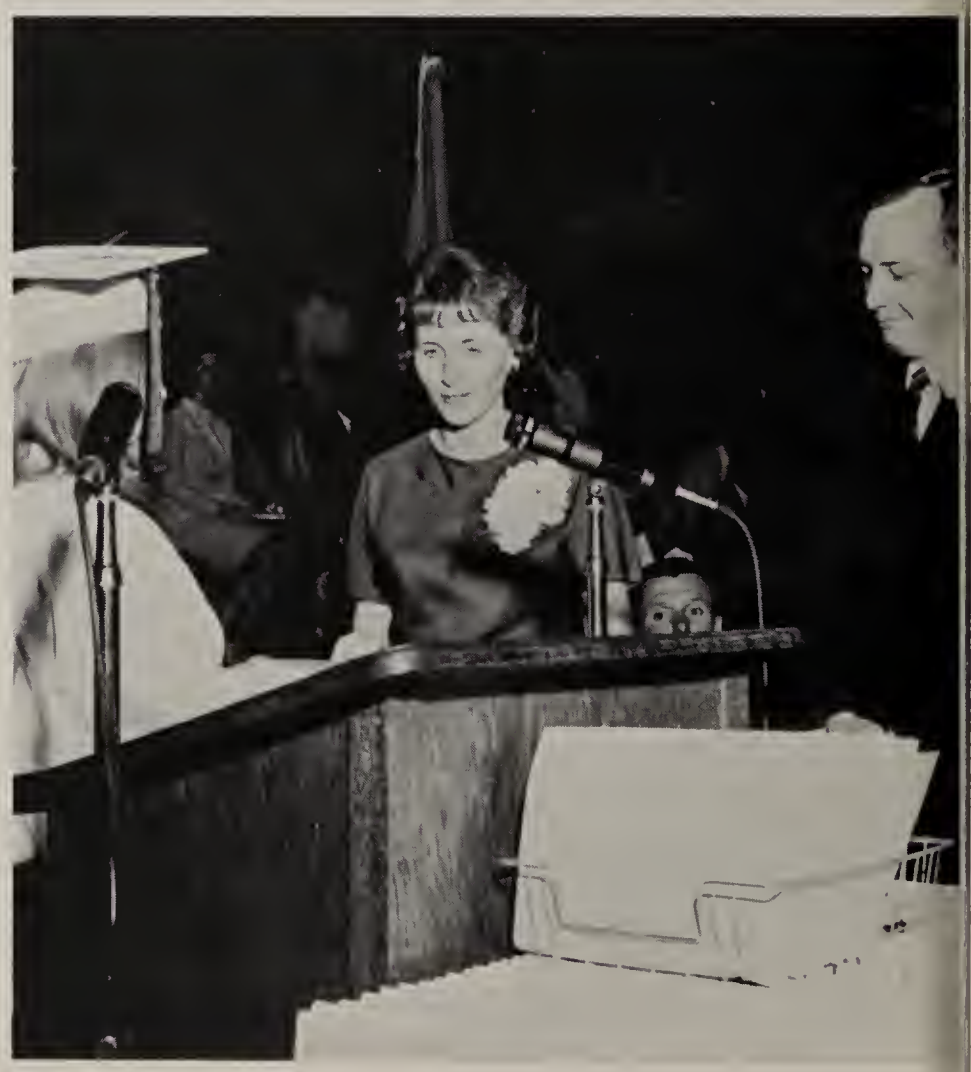
Refreshments were served for both Prom and postprom. Class President Rick Kean led the Juniors in plans and preparations for the Prom with the help of sponsors Mrs. Whitton and Mr. Lydick.

Graduation Day for Seniors

Valedictorian, Susan Kitch accepts award.

Class President Penny Anderson leads the seniors in moving

With twelve long years behind the seniors of '69 they finally reached the high point of their education. Graduation represents all the work they put into their organizations, activities, and academics in the past twelve years. After graduation the seniors will have to start over again, some in the armed service, some with college, and others with business courses and work. Even as the seniors were leaving they never forgot their alma mater. They left behind a color television, new sports records, the good moments they had, and positions to be filled by the awaiting juniors.



Sponsors Mrs. Bradley and Mr. Cummings receive silver trays from the senior class at commencement.

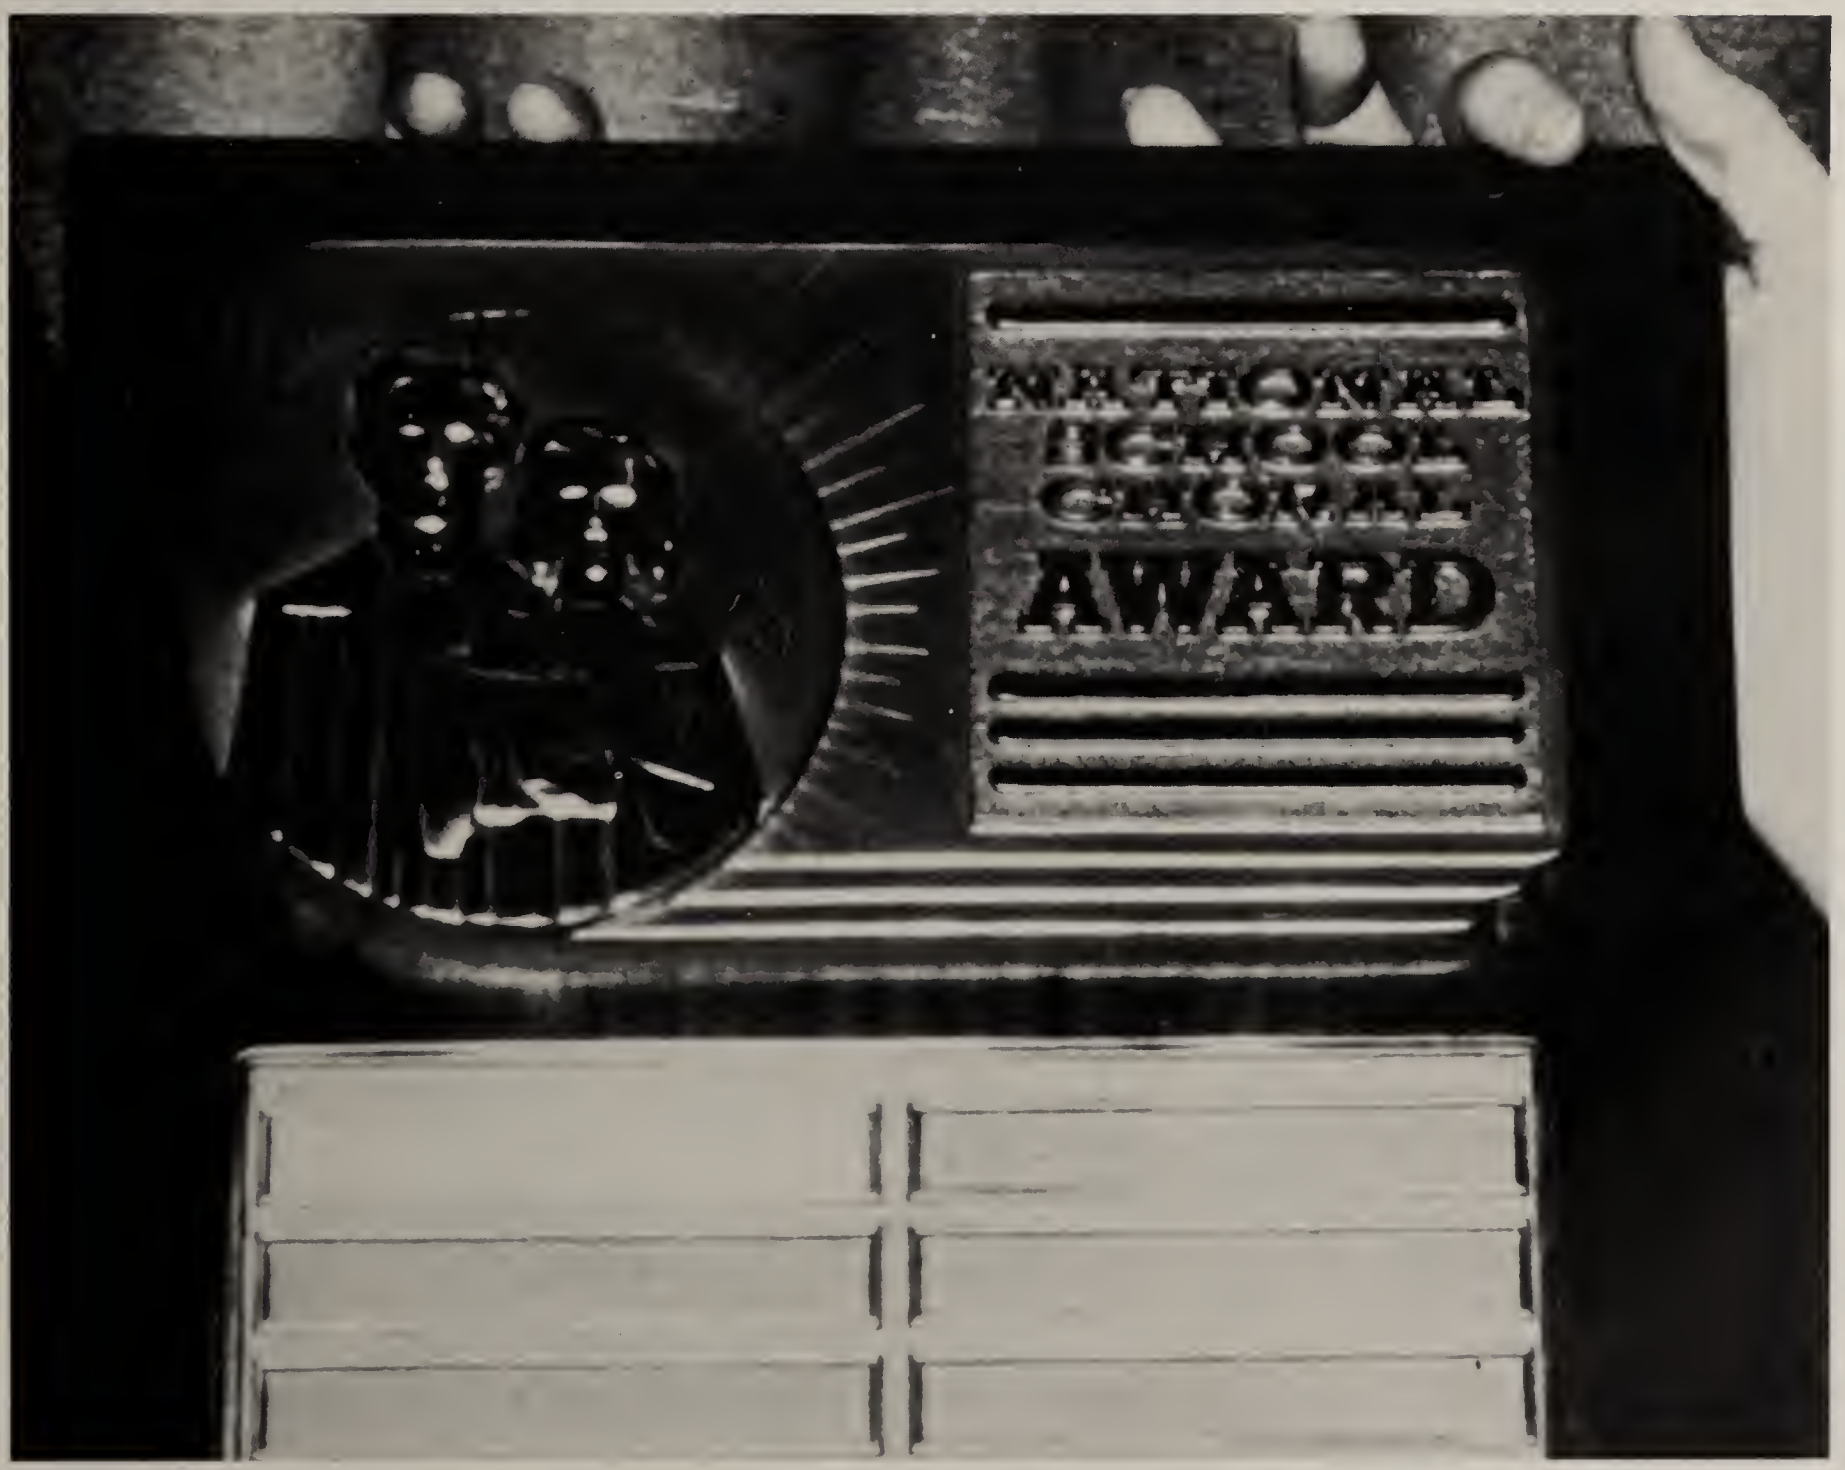
Craig's sprained ankle couldn't keep him from graduation.

Mary Wells tells about the education of the future.

ORGANIZATIONS



Clubs Help to Boost the Braves' Spirit

The purpose of Lettermen's is to promote a higher standard of athletics at the school. The athlete must have won a varsity award at Indian Creek to be eligible.

The club sponsors the award for the Outstanding Senior Athlete which was awarded to Chris Catt at the Athletic Banquet. They also sponsored the Brave mascot for the basketball season. For money-making projects, the club sponsored a key-chain sale and a sock hop.

The Pep Club's main purpose is to help promote student spirit and to back the boys on the team. Capes were made by several of the girls in the Pep Club, Mrs. Whitton, and several of the teachers.

The Indian heads that were added to the gymnasium this year were designed and donated by Mrs. Robert Bridges.

Brave fans did a good job of cheering the team on to victory, as seen here against Whiteland in the first home game.

Pep Club is shown here wearing their new capes, white on one side and red and blue on the other side, and forming an IC. The capes were paid for with the membership dues. The capes arrived for the last home game and were worn at the sectionals. Cheerblock presidents were Ruthann Nutt and Tom McLin.

AV, Dramatics Club Help Teach Skills

The purpose of the Audio-Visual Club is to help acquaint the members with the use and operation of the AV equipment.

The purpose of the Dramatics Club is to promote interest in the performing arts through observation and active participation in stage production.

The Dramatics Club had their initiation of new members in the fall and also had a Theatre Party and went to Indiana University campus to see a Greek play, "Prometheous Bound."

The Thespians gained seven new members this year in the second semester. The students must earn points by being active in plays and the Dramatic Club's activities to be eligible for Thespians.

The Thespians this year presented a Christmas play to all five schools in the Corporation.

The Dramatics Club was very active in presenting "Drama Night," 3 one-act plays in November. The plays were "The Ghost Wore White," "If Girls Asked Boys for Dates!," and Audio Visual had done much this year to teach the students how to use the AV equipment. The students then can help the teachers run the equipment when they use it in their classroom work. The officers of AV are Tom McLin, president; Dewayne Skinner, V-president; Bobby Kaylor, secretary; Darlina Shaw, treasurer.

Many Activities Keep Students Working

The Science department has two divisions, physical and biological. Each division has a separate club with its own officers. Each club carries out individual activities during the year. The physical division went on a field trip to Butler University to visit the planetarium and also sponsored a soc hop after a home ball game. The main purpose of the science clubs in to encourage students to become interested in the science field.

Journalism students have two main projects to complete during the year, the yearbook and the newspaper. Besides studying from a book, Journalism students learn much by actual experience. Much of their time is spent in the Journalism workroom writing and rewriting the newspaper and yearbook.

Future Farmers of America plant and harvest their own crops. They work with farm equipment and study modern methods of farming. Each year they plan an exhibit for the Johnson County 4-H fair.

Future Homemakers help the individual improve personal, family and community living. This year's activities included selling fruitcakes and cookbooks. They also sponsored the Sweetheart Dance.

National Honor Society carries high prestige within the school.

The club's purpose is to recognize those students in the Senior and Junior classes who have shown outstanding qualities in scholarship, leadership, ability, character, and service. The special activities in the club include tapping new members and the formal initiation dinner. The club also sold student directories, sponsored a soc hop, and held a car wash.

Future Teachers of America is for students interested in pursuing a career in teaching. A district convention was held at ICHS in the fall. The club also sponsored Turnabout Day, where the FTA members were teachers for a day. They also sponsored a "Final Fling" soc hop after the final home basketball game.

and Community

A major problem of most new schools are an ill-prepared library. The Library club members at Indian Creek have displayed a great interest in their library. School librarian, Mrs. Tichenor is the sponsor. Special activities include preparing the bulletin board displays in the library.

Perhaps Sunshine is the most active club in school. Special activities during the year included: a formal initiation, attending the district and state conventions, and sponsoring the Christmas Dance. In addition, they donated $100 to the Riley Hospital Fund, purchased a ping pong table and sponsored two orphan children from Korea.

Music Department Entertains During Year

The Indian Creek High School Chorus was host to the annual Choral Festival that was held at Indian Creek this year. The Chorus also sang at the Christmas Convocation and the Spring Sing. Members sold chocolate candy earlier this year to raise money.

The rhythmaires also entertained at programs around the county; Franklin, Indian Creek, and Whiteland. The Rhythmaires are under the direction of Miss Snell.

The Bravettes along with the band entertained between the basketball games during the year. They presented the flag ceremony and other humorous skits. The girls in the Bravettes made their outfits. Debbie Hall, a senior, is the head majorette.

Latin Club Proves to be Active

The purpose of the club is to help promote interest in the classics and ancient Rome.

The club held their formal and informal initiations at the beginning of the year. The club also sent delegates to the state convention and held a Roman Banquet in the spring. Their money-making project was selling Brave Booster Buttons at the home basketball games.

Foreign Language Proves Interesting

To encourage an interest in the French Language and the country of France is one of the primary goals of the French club. The only requirement to join the club is one year of high school French.

As a special activity, French members had a Spring cookout using some French recipes. Also as a money making project, they sponsored a turkey raffle during one of the home basketball games. The club also sponsored the "Danse Eccasslaise", a dance which means Spring Fling.

Initiate, Carol Lattimore, is shown here bowing to old Latin members. This was part of the initiation for new members.

A hard working club is the Student Council. Consisting of thirty-four members, their main duties are sponsoring good citizenship and encouraging good teacher-student relationships.

Their main project this year was choosing convocations they felt would be enjoyed by all. The acts included a world famous trampoline act, famed whistler and the Wisconsin Glee Club.

Students Find Part Time Jobs in Area

Ed Nichols, owner of NICK'S SUPER SHELL, explains the uses of motor oil to Aaron Sanders, student employee.

Many students have been able to find part time jobs in the area around the school. For example, Aaron Sanders is employed by Nick' Super Shell and Jim Moore helps his parents at Moore's Grocery in Peoga.

Other community businesses, such as Lattimore's Marina at Princes Lakes, supply recreational facilities.

Bud Lawless shows Steve two saws at LANCASTER's HARDWARE.

John Lattimore and assistants ready another boat for sale.

Businesses Active in School Life

Businesses in the three communities are very active in school life at Indian Creek. For example, Herff-Jones Company of Indianapolis supplies the class rings and guarantees them until the student graduates. Paragon, a division of Herff-Jones, prints the yearbook and sends representatives to advise the students working on the Tomahawk.

Whitaker's Chevrolet of Morgantown sells used as well as new cars and also carries products of the Standard Oil Company.

Johnson's Dairy, Bloomington, supplies the milk and other dairy products used in the school cafetorium.

Rihm's IGA Foodliner in Morgantown and Scherer's Corner Store in Trafalgar are two of the businesses in the communities who hire students for part time work after school and on Saturdays.

Steve Buckner and Nick Jones are coming out of RIHM'S IGA FOODLINER, owned by Mary Ann and Norbert Rihm.

Penny Anderson and Bev Hogue take a break from their studies to enjoy a glass of milk from JOHNSON'S DAIRY.

Going to SCHERER'S CORNER STORE for a cola after school is a favorite pastime for many students. Bev Hogue and Rhoda Kean are among the part time workers at Scherer's.

HERFF-JONES COMPANY supplied the school with the samples of class rings chosen by this year's Sophomore class.

Many Businesses in School Community

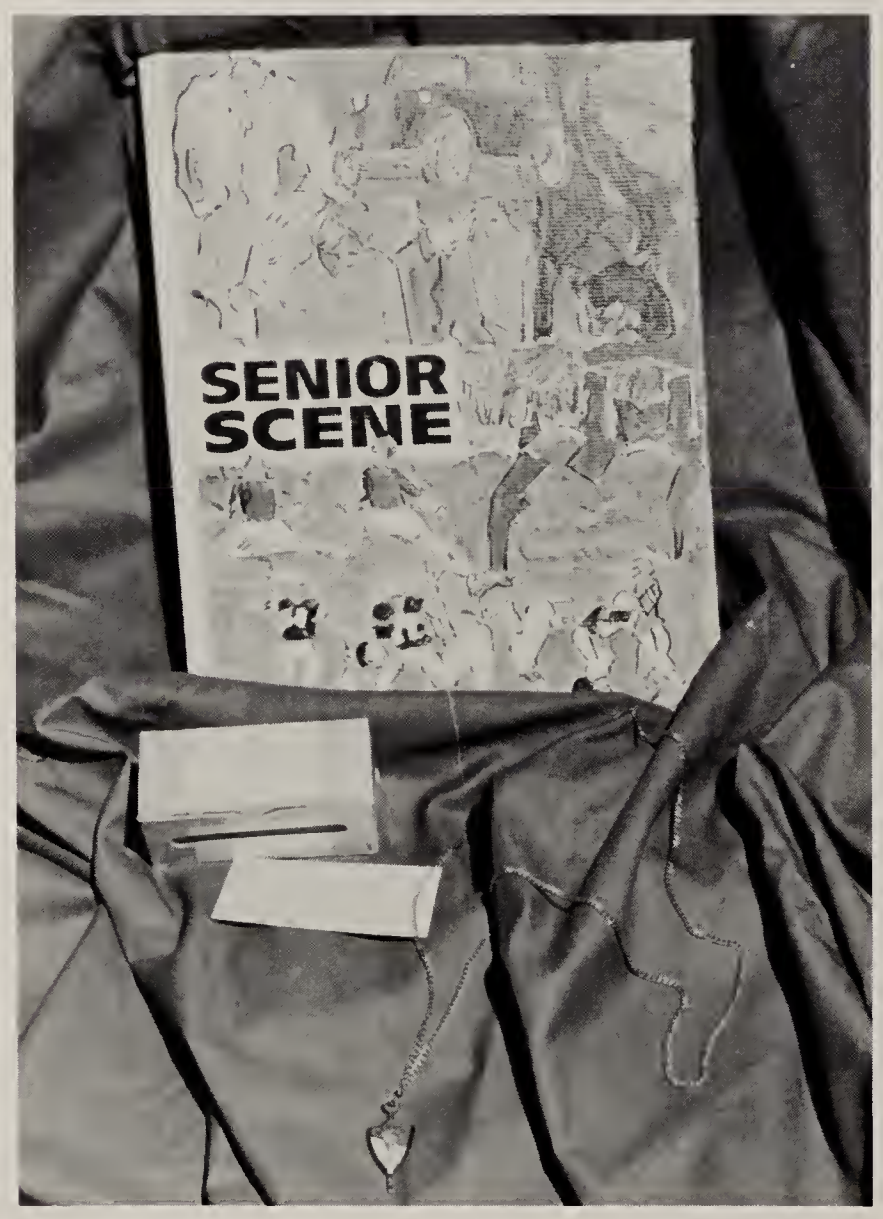
Indian Creek students who bank at the Trafalgar branch of the UNION BANK AND TRUST COMPANY include Danny Kean and Sharon Stump.

Steve Buckner and Juanita Flake examine some of the products of the KENNETH N. RIDER AND COMPANY INCORPORATED near Trafalgar.

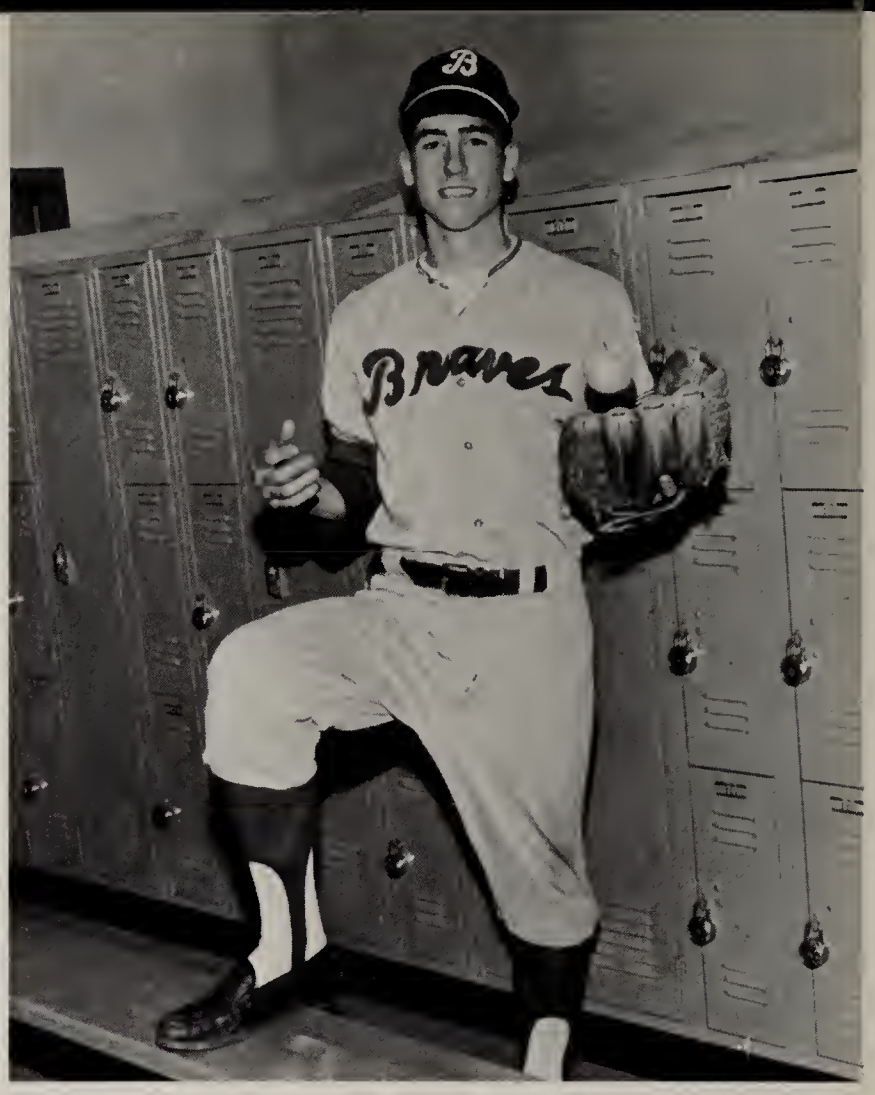
Kevin VanWinkle works for his father at V&V REGAL.

Building sites are available at CORDRY SWEETWATER LAKES.

Nick and Steve buy party supplies from EDDIE'S FOOD-LAND.



Seniors purchase their name cards, Senior keys, graduation invitations, and Senior Scene from JOSTEN'S.



Bill Willis models one of the school's baseball uniforms which are purchased at EMROE'S SPORTING GOODS.

Tomahawk Staff Has Rewarding Work

It was a busy year for the yearbook staff. Putting out a yearbook involves many techniques, among them are page designing, copywriting, proofreading, and preparing type and layout sheets. Learning to work together is also essential. Without the advice and instruction of our advisor Mrs. Kuehn, and the cooperation of our staff, it would have been impossible to complete the yearbook. We appreciated the work done by Bob Hicks, a senior, who was responsible for drawing all of the artwork, and Mr. Gill, our photographer.

Working on the yearbook is a great responsibility as well as a challenge, and can be very rewarding.
